ANNEX 1

Handouts for group discussion

CASE 1: "MENU OF THE DAY"

In a company of 150 workers, the union negotiates with the company the "menu of the day" at an economical price for all workers.

The menu contains pork several times a week, since the company is located in a region linked to the swine industry and could get a good price.

Muslim workers (who are 20% of the company workforce) given their religious ban on eating pork, meet with the union so that it also negotiates with the company to have an alternative dish for the days in which they serve pork.

1- A group must defend the request of the Muslim workers.

2- Another group should go against the request of the Muslim workers.

CASE 2: "THE WEB"

In the US, the possibility of accessing content in Spanish was recently removed from the White House WEB.

On the one hand, there are those who indicate that only the official language is necessary (English) and others who consider that they must include the option "in Spanish", because there are more than 50 million Hispanic speakers in the country who represent almost 17% of its population.

1-A group will support that only English language appears since it is the only official language.

2- Another group will support the inclusion of "in Spanish" to facilitate communication with the Spanish-speaking community.
